HON SKONG, JANUARY 7TH, 1908

THE after-dinner speech of Dr. Morrison to the China Association in London has made a sensation since, if it did not palpably do so at the time. Perhaps if the famous correspondent had been addressing the members of a branch, rather than the members of the central Association, he might not have been given so patient a hearing. There is no doubt that cold-drawn extract of tu quoque in the Morrisonian manner is not palatable, and we have usually been at a loss for a subject before we have, on rare occasions, adopted that line of argument. It is, of course, an easy one to take, and seems more telling than it perhaps would be under analysis. It is certainly difficult to answer, and that is doubtless why no speaker ventured to follow Dr. Moneison's ironic outburst with any not make a right, but then Dr. Moreison Bort of a rejoinder. From the point of view of the Association, we ourselves considered it best left unanswered, but others have not thought the same. One writer on Chinese parable, a lesson which, in view of our topics has attacked Dr. Morrison's position remarks yesterday, was perhaps not. with considerable energy. He writes:

"In regard to a large number of national mings, the comparison is not one of -f degree. There are certain principle but will be found in exwhere and with national faults which istence more or less ever, regard to the a, the quantion is a given mation is entirely free from (while emother shows that it is subject to them, but the extent and often even the manner in which they are found in the one or the other. To say that it is of no great. consequence that there is corruption among Chinese officials because there are many European nations among whom the same shortcoming is to be found is but apoor excuse for the universal venality, which the Chinese themselves so much complain of. It would be an answer if it were shows that the corruption in question was not much more extensive than that which is to be found in most other countries, or in any which can claim to be reasonably well governed. In the same way to point out that we need not complain the faultiness of the Chinese judicial system, including the convenient method of eliciting evidence by torture, because occasionally there are serious miscarriages of justice in thoroughly civilised countries, is after all perhaps clever badinage, but certainly not serious argument. The best of human laws are hable at times to prove defective, but this forms no excuse for the continued use in the present day of torture or a resort to barbarous punishments, which many of the most enlightened Chine-c Statesmen still hold to be necessary for the maintenance of order."

The writer goes on to argue that the real matter for comparison is not one of conduct but of standards, a point we have dealt with before. It is almost equally liable to the tu quoque, when any race i under criticism. He regrets that so good an authority as Dr. Mores son should have resorted to such an ad captandum line of argument, and confesses that "it is some. what trying to a Britisher's patience to be told in almost so many words that country is nearly as corrupt as China because during the rush and push of a war, some unscrupulous men took the opportunity to line their pockets at the expense of the commissariat. " We,' he said, ' who knew how high were the administrative ideals both in this country and in America, who remembered how unscatbed we emerged from those amezing enquiries into the expenditure in connection with some of our recent wars, na urally condemned administo our standard. The satire is pungent and would be telling, but for the slight, difference which was perhaps excusally overlooked in an after dinner speech, that the corruption in question took place under totally exceptional and hurried conditions. and was rigidly enquired into-while that in China (if the Chinese themselves are to be believed) is perennial, and is recognised and encouraged at headquarters."

of Mandarindom, that it encourages official peculations. What the writer means is probably that one Chinese official does not denounce another for such dishonesty, that dog does not eat dog. But even there have foreigners the right to claim such infinite. superiority? We would like to think so. but with numerous cases of "hushing up in mind, we have to admit that even there sideration of class for class. Sometimes we have no 1 ercy on those of our number who disgrace us by being found out, but then, the Chinese can claim that much. On the unhappy. He says that Dr. Moneson was as "fir from the mark (as he of all people must well have known) in comparing the sales of 'rank,' in China to the dignities which are conferred at home (albeit perhaps. little too liberally) upon 'non-descript capitalists of alien origin, whose entry into their ranks was adding so greatly to the dignity and prestige of our hereditary aristocracy.' There is no particular reason why wealth as well as any other power in the state should not be recognised in the House of Lords, or otherwise, but bankers, brewers, or other capitalists, who receive such distinction don't pay the Government or the King for conferring dignities upon them." What does it matter whom they pay-to the Party fund, or to some person with interest? It is all the morediscreditable the more it is sub rosa. It is a very weak answer, indeed, and would much better have been left unattempted. More to the point is his reminder that two wrongs do never suggested that they did. All he was doing was to give the China Association a modern version of the mote and beam untimely.

The latest health return shows another death (Chinese) from plague. There are also fivecases of small-poz, all Chinese.

Pollard's Lilliputians again staged "The not whether Belle of New York" at the Theatre Royal I last night, and scored another success. To-"ight "In Town" will be played,

'A meeting of the Sanitary Board will be held this afternoon. The agenda is not a long one, and contains principally applications for modifications of requirements of c rtain sections of the Public Health and Buildings Ordinance-

a Parsee barrister, appeared at the local policecourt and obtained from the magistrates an idjournment of a case in which he was counsel in order that he might be married. Later he appoared in court covered with confetti.

Two honost Chinese cooks engaged at a Kowloon residence thought that a countryman, who was employed as messenger, was "squeezing" the master of the house, and told him so. quarrel followed, and the three men were before Mr. F. A. Hazeland at the I clies Court yesterday. The messenger told his Worship that one of the cooks held him down, while the other dealt him a blow on the head with a stool. The man who swung the stool was ordered by the Magistrate to pay a fine of :5.

An Indian constable appeared before Mr. H. H. J. Gomports at the Police Court yesterday on two charges of obtaining money by false pretences, and one charge of attempting to obtain a sum. The defendant it appears, was on duty at Murray Pier during the holidays, and when a Naval officer appeared to hail sampan, would tell him that he had paid 5 cents to send a drunken officer off to his ship, and would ask the new arrival to repay him Twice the trick was successful, but the third trative methods in China that were not up time it failed, the failure resulting in the constable's appearance before the Court. The case was remanded.

Since the beginning of the financial flurry the New York banks have had to find some way of thwarting the activity of certain depositors. Boontly a merchant presented a cheque on one of the banks for $3,000, practically his entire balance. The paying teller informed the depositor that if he would come back in an hour the money would be ready for him. Th merchant returned, and found waiting for his Surely it is a little too much to may, even $1,500 in silver dollars and the rest in $5 gold piccer, w. ighing altogether about one hundred and fifty pounds, and filling two good-sized bage. He changed his mind about withdrawing the money.

There was successfully launched on the Mersey last month from the yard of Messry, Cammell-Laird (Limited), H.M.S. RICSHAWLESS HONGKONG.

RICSHA COOLIES STRIKE.

Considerable inconvenience was caused the general public yesterday by reason of the fact that all the public ricaha coolies on the island went on strike. By a curious coincidence the tramway service was dislocated at the same time, and it was at one time feared that the coolies were responsible for this, Such was not the case, howover, for a flaw was found in a cable at Wanchai, and when this had attended to the trams were once more set in motion. The ricaha trouble is between coolies and masters, and Chinese subsidiary coin is said and of Chinese 141 to the former and 2,449 to be at the root of the strike. Owners of to the latter. The Library was therefore used I ricehas are required to pay the Gevernment a licence fee of $72 a year, and this the legal tender of the Colony, Ricahas are hired out to the coolies at from Artillery at Falmouth. He served throughout | paid in Chinese coin, and it is in this coin that the Soudan and Nile Expedition, 1884-5; was he pays his master's hire. On account of this attached to the Headquarters of the Japanese, the owners of vehicles on the island decided Army during the Japan-China War, 1894, and recently to increase the hire of ricahas by four was Special Service Officer with the China cents, giving as a reason that they lost a considerable aum by converting the Chinese coin into Hongkong dollars to pay licence fees. A rom ntie wedding took place at Mansfield. When this information was made known to Notts, a month ago. Mr. Newerji Tarachand, the coolies they promptly went out on strike, and yesterday public ricshas were not to be had in the city.

It seems strange that the owners should be making this plea at this time of day, seeing that the discount on anbeidiary coins, both copper and silver, is lower than it has been for the past three years at the least. Six months ago the discount on the Chinese 20 pieces was nearly $9 per cent; on the 10 cent pieces it was $9.30. On the Hougkong 20 cent pieces the discount was $7,50 per cent; and on the 10 cent pieces, $7.65 per cent. Yesterday the discount on these coins was :

Chinese 20 cent pieces $4.10 per cent. 4.50 per cent. 10 cent pieces. Hongkong 20 cent pieces 2.89 per cent. Hongkong 10 cent pieces 4.00 per cent. From this it will be seen that if the action taken by the owners was for the cause stated, it should have been taken months, or even years ago. Another alleged cause of the strike is the introduction of the new rubber tyred ricebe. These vehicles with their white covered seats have been greatly appreciated by the general public, and of course, have relieved those owners who are without them of a considerable share of the public patronage. The proprietors who have not yet provided up-to-date vehicles have resorted to the plan of covering the second class ricebas with white covers, and this additions expanse, it appears, they decided that the pullers should share with them, houce the reason for the increased hire.

Whatever the cause for the additional lavy, matter. the coolies were not prepared to pay it, and the discontent which has prevailed for sometime calmin ted yesterday in the strike. Many of the pullers, it appairs, were willing to continue work, but the majority ruled, and in view of probable molestation thay desisted. So great was the discontent ab ut the riceha derôts that disturbances were feared, but these were prewho have made several arrests. In a few instances the stray ricahs puller who endeavoured to continue work came in for a rough handling. One instance is reported where a European persuaded a coolie to pull him into the city, but the journey was cut short by a number. of strikers who held up the puller, ordered the European to alight, and cap azed the vehicle. It was a busy day for the chair coolie, however. and he profited by the absence of the ricabs, taking up the usual stands where that vehicle is found, and carrying fares along the level as well as in the hilly district.

The Captain Superintendent of Police was to Tsang King. Counsel would prove that the fully alive to the necessity of being prepared for any emergency, and in the furamoon took the precaution to strengthen the police patrols. Besides armed patrols two squads of lukougs and two equads of Indians were detailed for special duty in the western district where the majority of the ricsha depo's are. But as before stated there was no serious t-ouble.

The prompt action taken by the Government will be appreciate ! by the public, many of whom were inconvenienced by yesterday's strike. Tsang King to enable the latter to feed his he arrived at Norwich with Mrs. Ringer, When the trouble was made known to the Particular s of an interesting contribution to authorities the Registrar-General, Hon. Mr. history by the German Emperor are published A. W. Brewin, Capt. Lyons, the Hon, Mr. Wei and paid for; the deliveries in 19)6 were in the papers. Under the patronage of his Yukand Hon. Dr. Ho Kai summoned the repre | paid for; but the rice which was the Majesty a large historical work of the popular sentatives of the ricaha owners, and the repre- subject of this suit, and which was delitype is being published, and the Emperor sentatives of the coolies to a conference at Mr. vered in 1907 in the same way himself has revised the proofs of the last Brewin's office. After about an hour's sitting not paid for. It appeared from a letter chapter, which deals with his own reign. The in which both sides stated their cases, the written to them by Messrs. SUPREME COURT.

Monday, January 6th. IN ORIGINAL JUBISDICTION.

A SUMMONS DISMISSED.

In the matter of an arbitration between the Kwong Tung Chuen and the London and Lancashire Fire Insurance Co., the Corporation the Royal Exchange Insurance and the North British and Mercantile Insurance Co., and in the matter of the Hongkong Code of Civil Procedure.

-Hen. Mr. H. E. Pollock, K.C., instructed by Mr. G. C. C. Mester (of Messrs. Johnson, Stokes and Master) appeared for the plaintiffs in the issue, who where defendants in the original action. He said he would remind hi. Lordship briefly of the course which this matter had taken. His Lordship, on referring to the file, would find that the originating summons was taken out as far back as March 16th, 1907. It was an application made on behalf of a man called Kwong Tung-chuen for leave to enforce an award dated 2ud October 1906 in the matter of an arbitration between himself and certain insurance companies mentioned in the origins ating summons. His Lordship would find on the file the award which was made by Mesers. A. R. Lowe and H. A. Lummert av arbitrators. and if he referred to it he would see that the arbitrators found as a fact that certain articles which Kwong Tang-chuen, the party inspred, had deposed to as being on the premises prior to the fire, were not there His Lordship would remember that the arbitrators did not go into the question of whether that was a matter of fraud or not. A clause on the insurance policy sinted that if a man made my false statement in respect of a claim, he was to be debarred from recovering under that policy. Mr. Master's affidavit, filed in support of the present application, showed certain correspondence which had passed between his firm and Mr. Goldring.

His Lordship -I think that would be it. Mr. Pollock-Perhaps it is a more appropriate order to make. Continuing, Counsel said that Mr. Master's affidavit of January 4th set forth certain correspondence which showed that continual communication had been held with Messra Goldring and Barlow from the 3rd July to 9th January, and also that distinct notice had been given to the defendants that this matter would come on before the Court to-day. Mr. Goldring was in Court but had no instructions with reference to the vented by the prompt action of the police, Thomson) appeared for the plaintiffs, and Sir Henry Berkeley, K.C., instructed by M the defendants.

Mr. Slade, after reading the pleadings, stated that it was app rently not really shown what defence the defendants intended to put up. The defendant was really Teang King, the big contractor, and he had filed an affidavit in which he said that the Wo On Sai Chan was in charge of a manager who had no authority from him o buy rice. The manager had authority only to take goods into the godown, and to collect rents from property belonging plaintiff firm first dealt with the Wo On Sai Chan in 1594, some thirteen years ago, that rice was then sold and delivered to the Wo On Sai Chan, and that the same chop used on the transactions on which they were suing, was then used. The next dealings they could prove were some which took place in 1905, when the present manager of the plaintiff firm was in charge. He would tell the Court that he was informed rice was being bought for coolies and the men employed by him on that the manager of the Wo On Sai Chan absconded early in June of last year. There was new on the same premises as the Wo On Sai Chan firm a firm called Wo On Sai Chung, but when the plaintiffs dealt with defendants that sign was not up. It had been erected recently. The hearing was adjourned.

THE CHINA SQUADRON.

The Globe says :- The commission of the cruiser "King Alfred," flagship of Admiral Sir A. W. Moore, K.C.B., Commander in Chief of the China Squadron, is closing with the conspicuous success which has attended it throughout. In a full-power trial from Woosung to Hongkong, the "King Alfred's" average for eight hours was 24.4 knots, the best hours steaming being at 25.1 knote. For a vessel which has done the amount of cruising of the "King Alfred," these results are highly creditable to the engine-room staff, in gunnery, also, the flagship of the China Squidron has for two years in auccession done remarkably well. The In est achievement in this direction was in the battle practice test last month, when she riddled the target until it collapsed and had to be towed to Hongkong for repair. Whether the "King Alfred" will hold the premier pos tion in the gunnery of the China Squadron for 1907 remains to be seen, as it is known that the "Kent" has made high scoring in both the battle practice and gun layers' test. Whatever the relative Mr. M. W. Slade (instructed by Mr. O. The Norfolk Chroniele says of the late Mr. Frederick Ringer that he was born in Norwich. and spent his boyhood there; but all the more active years of his life, thirty or more, he had spent in Japan, residing at Nagasaki, and prospering greatly in mercantile pursuits. He was much interested in the Norwich Castle Museum, which he enriched with many valuable donations. In the summer of 1:06 Mr. Ringer for the tenefit of his health, came home from Japan, and spent some weeks cruising about the Norfolk Broads in a houseboat. He returned to Japan, but his health remaining indifferent, he concluded, to return to England and live there permanently. A few days ago putting up at a hotel, and intending shortly to leave for Penzance. Mr. inger was different contracts. Rice was delivered in 1905 | 69 years of age. The funeral took place in the family burial-ground, at the Rosary Cometery. on Monday. The body was enclosed in elm and lead shells, and a handsome pauelled oak coffin. bearing a perfectly plain plate, with the inscription, " F. Ringer, died November 29th, 1907, aged 69 years." The principal mourners were .- Mr. R. Ringer (son), Mr. Holme (London), N. B. Reid (London), Mr. F. C. Smith, Dr. Beverley, Mr. Bosworth Harcourt. Mr. Plummer, and others. #### THE ASILE DE LA SAINTE ENFANCE.

NEW BUILDING OPENED BY THE GOVERNOR Another chapter in the history of a noble work was concluded yesterdsy afternoon, when His Excellency the Governor opened the new building of the Asile de la Sainte Enfance at Wongneicheeng, which is to be used as a hospital! This building, built to the simple yet handsome design of Messrs. Leigh and Orango, stands on the hillside on the east side of the race course, and overlooks the Happy Valley. It is of early Gothic design; steel joisted, while the floors are of concrete and throughout Deep Water Bay tiles have been used. It is of fireproof construction, and has three wards on the ground floor in which there are already some patients. The sisters' quarters are in the centre of the building, the kitchen at the rear, while at either end there is a bath room. There is a pean children mostly English and French, with temporary chapel on the next floor, and a drying an average of some 70 pupils. That the work room above the kitchen. There is also a small has increased is evident by the fact that a new ward detached from the main building where building has been called for, which is being auspicious cases will be isolated. There is a opened to-day. That the Government supports spacious ground around the building, and this and cordially approves of the work is evident by ground to the south of the Convent a handsome site. I should like to congratulate you specially. monument in the form of a concifix has been on the site you have chosen. I think that both erected to the memory of Bishop Piazzoli for the ladies who are engaged in daily toil whose early efforts brought about the erection here, and for the pupils and foundlings, this of the new building.

Brother Sylvester and numerous priests and Christian Brothers, the Hon. Commander Basil H. Taylor, R.N., Dr. F. Clark, Consul Romano and Mrs. Leiris, Mr. J. Orange, Dr. and Mrs. Justi, Mr. A. Bryer, Mr. Sin Tak-fan aud Mr. Francisco Tse Yat.

At about three o'clock His Excellency the Governor and Lady Lugard arrived, accompanied by Captain Mitchell-Taylor, A.D.C., and Mr. A. J. Brackenbury. The party were met by His Lordship the Bishop and the Mother Superior and conducted to the matshed.

His LORDSHIP THE BISHOP said he was in duty bound, before asking His Excellency to declare the building opened, to express his indebtedness to the Governor for permitting bis name to be associated with the first public coremony by which the convent would henceforth be connected with the benefit institutions of the Colony. The Convent had always received from the Government of Hongkong much sympathy and assistance, and the Government from the foundation of the Colony had always been represented by administrators who had uniformly shown an active and kind attitude towards every movement directed by charitable efforts. In taking part in this inaugural ceremony His Excellency conferred a great boon on the sisters, and on all connected with the Convent Through the favourable recommendation of a former Governor, Sir Henry Blike, the Secretary of State for the Colonies granted the site upon which this fine edifice had been reared During the administration of Sir Matthew Nathan the foundation stone was informally laid and the building commenced. Now it had been completed after its course of erection had been carried over a period of three successive administrators. From its ception the sisters of the Asile de la Sainte Enfance Lad received every encourage ment, and he (the speaker) was asked by th Mother Superior to convey to His Excellency her thanks for the assistance from the Government, without which the erection of this new establishment_attached to the French Convent would never have been successfully accomplished, The cost of the building amounted to over $50,000, the cost of enclosing the ground with walls another $20,000. Friends of the institution all of whom he wished to cordially thank on behalf of the Mother Superior, contributed a portion of the cost. The balance, thanks to the untiring efforts of the Superioress, seconded by the indefatigable labours of the sisters and aided by the proceeds of the sale of the infants' work, had been raised. At the same time he should not omit to mention Mr. Orange, whose firm had been responsible for the handsome building all present saw. Mr. Orange, Mr. A. Bryer, and during their absence Mr. Ough, took considerable pains in seeing that while the building was designed to meet all the requirements such an institution called for, it at the same time barmonised in architectural effect with the many palatial buildings of the island. The French Convent building in the city had long since been found small to meet the demand for room, caused by the crush of Chinese women and children who sought comfort and admission there. The increasing number of females, and the nature of their illnesses in certain cases necessitate! more accommodation and better surroundings for the treatment of the sick. His Lordship concluded. by asking His Excellency and Ludy Lugard on -behalf of the Mother Superior and the sisters, which was suitably inscribed.) And now with this key," said his Lordship "I would ask your Excellency to have the goodness to open the door of the Convent".

HIS EXCELLENCY, before performing this ceremony, said-My Lord Bishop, Lady Superioress, Ladies and Gentlemen: Before I proceed to open the door with the key which has just been given to me by Monseigneur, I would like to express the pleasure which I feel in being called upon to assume this duty to-day. We have heard the story of the completing of temple. You know the nature of the work carried on here. I am sorry I could find no later statistical records than 1904. In that year some 1400 patients were taken in and some 40 per cent cured. Of Chinese adults admitted to the hospital there were aboute 100 in addition to the out patients; the old, the destitute, women and children; the lame and the blind. Some 170 Chinese orphans are maintained, and educated mostly, of course, foundlings received by the institution. There is also a school for Europleasant outlook around us, with the unique At the opening ceremony yesterday, which view of the sports going on, the races, and all the took place in a matched erroted before the festivities showing the joyous side of human Convent, there were many present, among others | nature, and with, I am glad to say considerable area for a playground, there should be a great improvement in their physical condition, in their health and in their cheerfulness; in contrast with those who occupy buildings looking into dingy Chinese streets. I would like to add my congratulations also, to those which his Lordship the Bishop has already bespoken on your behalf, to the architect, Mr. Orange. I think we can all look on the building with thorough satisfaction, and as being a credit to Hongkong; from a architectural aspect, from the way he has adopted the surroundings, and from the site. I had the pleasure of going over the building before it was completed and it seems admirably ad inted inside for the purposes for which it is required: I have nothing more to say except one word, That is, Ladies and gentlemen, that I think when we, who are engaged in the business and the work of the outdoor world, come for a moment into this house of charity and of good work, that we should learn something and profit by the lesson. When we consider that day by day and year by year these ladies and these Reverend Fathers are ceaselessly engaged in trying to alleviate suffering. and of trying to better the prospects in the future of what I may call the flotsam and jetsam of humanity; the waifs, the strays, the blind, the halt, the maimed, and the most

TH BUSINESS OUTLOOK. The year 1908 has dawned with no prom of improvement and prosperity for the Colony. Business has been bad, and the immediate outlook is not cheerful. Two Chinese banksthe Kee Cheong and the Tay Bo-stopped payment in the last week of the old year, and much distress was caused among those whose savings were deposited in the banks. The year has witnessed a considerable reduction in the number of Chinese shops, and if a comparison of the number of shops in existence on Chinese New Year Day 1907 could be made with the number which will re-open after the Chinese New Year holidays next month we would find, I venture to say, striking evidence of the decadence of the port.

(PROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

Hamburg, December 13th. THE GERMAN ARMY.

The Reichstag resumed its sittings on the 22nd ult. As was to be expected the Moltoke -Harden-case was brought up and made the occasion of violent attacks on the Chancellor, the army in general and the military authorities by the leaders of the clerical party—the centre -and the socialists. Prince Billow replied to the one and the secretary for war, General von Einem, to the other. They both expressed their regret at having to speak on so loathenome : subject, but assured the house that the army was by no means the Sodom and Gomorrah it had been represented. On the contrary a high meral standard prevailed among the officers and although there might be cases of individual depravity, the most searching inquiries instituted since the appearance of the articles in the "Zukunft." had failed to produce any positive evidence to that effect. It was said to be notorious that practices such as formed the subject of the present interpollation existed and is surrounded by a high granite wall. On the the grant to the Convent and the grant of this had increased during the last swenty years, but it was all based on hear-say, and no proofs had been forthcoming. With the exception of the man Bolhardt, who at the Molteke-Harden trial had volunteered his evidence it had been impossible to discover other witnesses, and bis depositions, owing to his antecedents, could hardly be considered conclusive. Even Count Lynar, against whom such grave charges been brought, had, as far as present information went, been guilty only of an indecent assault; which being reported to his Colonel had led to his being placed on the retired list pending further investigation and against Count Hoberau nothing had as yet been proved. military court was now engaged in trying the two cases and it was to be hoped that the accused who had left the country would put in an appearance. The 16th of this month has been fixed for the hearing of the Moltoke Harden appeal case in the criminal court. [See our telegram. H.D.P., Jan. 6th.] EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY. The supreme court of Leipzig has just given decision of great importance concerning the liability, of employers. According to the act, compensation cannot be claimed by workmon in cases of accidents or death if they can be proved to have themselves caused the accident through culpable neg igence or some other fault of their own. In the present instance a chief engineer in some works on the Rhine, noticioing that neveral workmen employed in a pit underneath the gas engines were in imminent peril of their lives owing to a sudden escape of gas and under the impression no doubt the tonly immediate assistance could save them rushed to their rescue without waiting for the necessary appliances and was himself asphyxiated and died. On his family claiming compensation the employers, they distinctly state, soting on behalf of company with whom they were insured, repudiated all liability on the plea that the engineer had not met his death in the performance of his duties, but in consequence of a rash act of his own, as he must have known that without the foul air belmet an attempt to enter the pit could have but one result. The family thereupon sued the firm and obtained verdicts in their favour both in the court of the first instance and that of the second. The suprema court has now confirmed these judgments holding that although a person has no claim against his emacts to them, only unnatural proponsities. ployers if; in trying to save the life of anoth er he neglects the necessary precautions, and does not feel sure that success is possible, in the case before them deceased had not stopped to consider but had noted promptly in the belief that no time was to be lost and it had moreover been proved that he had had every reason to suppose that sufficient atmospheric air had in the mean time entered the pit to render the gases innocuous. SIAMESE GOVERNMENT'S INTERFERENCE. The fifth anunal ordinary general meeting of this company was held at Winchester House Mr. R. W. Duff presiding, in the absence in the East of Mr. F. Douglas Osborne (chairman of the company). The Chairman, in moving the adoption of the report, dealt in detail with the accounts. With regard to the company's work during the yen, it would be seen, said the Chairman, that the policy which had been decided upon at the extraordinary meeting held in November last hat been adhered to.

The work of the staff in Kelantan had been devoted to the collection of revenues, to agriculture, to the erection and working of the saw mill and repair shop, to dredging, and river prospecting by means of boring. It was satisfactory that whereas the working expenses in London and in the East during 1906 exceeded the income by £10,900, the approximate accounts which had been prepared for the eight munths ended 31st August, 1907, showed that the working expanditure and interest in Landon and in the East during the same period had been nearly covered by the income derived from the dredges and the general revenue.

The amount of capital expenditure on development was £5,000, the bulk of which was devoted to rabber planting. The company's nurseries contained 400,600 young trees, and no difficulty was experienced is obtaining a plentiful supply of good seed. This expenditure, therefore, has provided the company with a valuable asset which would increase in value, the conditions of soil and climate being most favourable.

Dealing with the work done in the past, there were, said the chairman, many sources from which they should have derived revenue which had been alm at unremunerative. Apart from the value of the gold recovered, the revenues of and in the first eight months of this year to 13,000. He was perfectly satisfied that had the company been allowed to work, on the lines on which it was first established, these figures would have been multiplied many times over, and had they been in a position to administer. their territory, to develop it, and collect their revenues, the latter would have been so large that they might have been in a position to-day, to prosecute development work without having to provide further working capital. Briefly, owing to the failure of the Siames Covernment to abstain from interference in the internal administration of Kelantan, and the consequent breaking by the Kelantan Government of their agreement with the company, the company was not at present on a paying basis. He had the best reasons for believing that negotiations were preceeding between Great Britain and Siam, which, if concluded, would directly affect the political status of Kelantan and consequently also the interest of the company. If however, the company's interests were not safeguarded, they would have to review the situation and seek redress for the losses they had sustained, and he thought the best course would be to apply for a court of arbitration to inquire into their grievances and assess the amount of damages. The report was then adopted, and the Chairman was re-elected a director. The auditors were also re-elected.

GUARDS CASE DECISION.

OFFICERS UPHELD.

As briefly reported in our telegrame, the Army Council found that Lieutenant H. C. Woods of the Grenadier Guards, who complained that he was boycotted by his brother officers on account of his studious habite, is inefficient as a regimental officer, and that his retention in the service is not in the interests of the Army.

This decision, says a London paper, is the sequel to one of the most remarkable military cases of recent years. Lieutenant Woods, who admitted that he never was popular during his service in the 2nd Battalion of the Grenadier Guards, appealed under Section 42 of the Army Act against certain adverse reports made on him by Major Gatherne-Hardy and Major Corkran, his senior officers, and by Colonel Cavendish; the commander of the battalion.

The Army Council directed an inquiry, which was held at Chelsea Barracks under the presidency of Major-General Sir Francis

The report is as follows:-"The Army Council have reviewed the whole proceedings in the light of the advice tendered to them by the court of inquiry, and they have arrived at the following conclusions:-"They find that Lieutenant Woods is inefficient as a regimental officer, and that his retention in the service is not in the interests of the Army.

"They find that misunderstanding would have been averted if Colonel Gordon Gilmonr. who commanded the battalion up to October 1906, had made more searching inquiry and reported-more thoroughly on the qualifications of Lieutenant Woods for his regimental duties, particularly as regards his power of command-

"Whatever are the good qualities of Lieutenant Woods in other respects, and however capable he may be of succeeding in another vocation, the Army Council are satisfied that he has failed as a regimental officer.

they think that at no period of his ourses was he a really efficient regimental officer, and that as his responsibilities increased with his service he fell further and further short of the standard required of officers of his rank.

In the end his deficiency became markedly apparent, and in the earlier stages it would prob bly have attracted notice but for the unduly favourable reports rendered on him by claims on the private estate of Mrs. Gliemann in his former commanding officer. These reports abeyance until the question of her liability shall in the opinion of the Army Council, afford have been decided. Her lawyers have found | Lieutenant Woods some reason to complain that out that the entry on the register is not in he was not informed earlier of the defects in his was due to him. As to the Kaiser himself who accordance with the declarations made at the capacity for command which have now been

"The Army Council find that, in making their reports neither Lieut.-Colonel Cavendish, Maj r Corkran, nor Major Gathorne-Hardy were actuated by prejudice or bias. They were only doing what they conceived to be their duty, and, subject to the observations which follow, the Army Council concur in the substance of the reports on Lieutenant Woods made by his superior officers. But as regards the form, these reports bear an appearance of abruptnes, and in some instances have been worded unnecessarily strongly.

"The evidence and the advice given, them have led the Army Council to the conclusion that any appopularity that may have existed in the case of Lieuten int Woods was due not, as was suggested by him, to his studious tastes or temperate habits, or to the fact that he did not gamble or take part in field sports, but to the circ metance that he had not the faculty of associating bimself with the modes of thought and work of his brother officers.

"He was undoubtedly anxious to be active, but he appears to have failed to recognise the daty of identifying his life and career with the working and interests of the battalion as a whole, rather than with what his individual tastes led him to prefer This was, in the Army Council, the secret of his unpopularity.

"The Army Council have come to the conclusion that some degree of pressure was more than once brought to bear on Lieutenant Woods, with view to inducing him to resign, by Lieut Colonel Cavend sh. Najor Gathorne-Hardy, and Captain Studiey. They believe that these officers intended merely to give Lieutenant Woods advice, which they thought justified, to the effect that he must resign if he desired to avoid adverse reports which they felt that they would have to make on him.

"The Army Council desire, however, to record the opinion that the duty of superior regimental officers is to abstain from giving such advice, even in a friendly s irit.

Their real duty is to make their reports conscientiously and fearlessly, bearing in mind on the one hand that they must be satisfied that the reports are just and, on the other hand that the efficiency of the Army depends on their expressing their candid opinion, whether favour of imposing the death penalty in these able or adverse.

"A senior officer should never hesitate give friendly advice to those under him, bu such advice should not be in the direction suggesting resignation. The responsibility for taking action on adverse reports rests solel with higher authority.

"There are one or two points of detail which the Army Council wish to comment

"Lientenant Woods set forth in the statement of his case allegations against Captain his appeal. Lieutenant Woods alleges that Captein Bonham wrote to the commander of the Turkish Gendarmerie (a force which Lieutenant Woods was at one time desirous of joining) stating that he was totally unfit to this force: Upon this the Army Council have observe that no atrempt was made by Lieuten. ant Woods to substantiate this charge, and that it appears to have been entirely unfounded.

"On page 7 of his appeal Lieutenant Woods suggests that nothing he did or could have done would have altered the conclusion pre-determined by the opinion of certain of his brother | Charmant and Special Skin Tonic and Poudre officers that he was not a fit companion for them, Charmant will enable you to do it. "My face and nose were in a very bad state through indigestion. After trying many kinds of soaps and cintments, my doctor recommended me to try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Cintment. I did so about three years ago, with the most satisfactory results, and since then I would not be without them. could not get washed with any-kind of soap until I tried the Cuticura Soap, but with Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment my face soon got better. I only used one box of the Ointment. I recommended Mrs. K-, of the S-Hotel, to try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment for eczema of the hands. "He also suggests that, actuated by this feeling, Major Corkran made a report which was clearly, affected by this general prejudice. This suggestion was withdrawn in open court by Lieutenant Woods, and the Army Council take the view that it was without foundation. "They must observe that these imputations seem to have been recklessly made and are, in a case of this kind, much to be deprecated.

THE MONTE CARGO MURDER

TRIAL.

VERDICT AND SENTENCH. Monte Carlo, December 4th. The trial of Mr. and Mrs. Vore Goold for the murder of me. Levin was resumed here this morning, when Maitre Allain, Advocate-General addressed the Coart for the prosecution. He traced the dissolute and adventurous careers of the prisoners with scathing comment, showing how Vere Goold became a slave to drink, and how the couple gradually aink from makeshifts and borrowing to stealing, and from stealing to murder. He dwell unon the orime in all its gruesome details, described the attempts to dis pose of the body and escape, and argued that, in spite of all denials, premeditation was clearly proved The evidence went to show, he maintained, that the murder could not have been carried out single-handed, and that the female prisoner had taken part in it; he declared that if the crime could be punished by two deaths Mrs. Goold deserved them both. There were no extenuating circumstances, and he demanded that -both should be condemmed to death.

At the afternoon sitting Maitre Kuneman spoke on behalf of Goold. He had hardly begun his speech when Mrs. Goold had a fit of hysterics, and the proceedings were temporarily suspended. Mattre Kuneman appealed to the impartiality of the Judges, and scouted the idea enlightened times. So far from being the ferccions brutes which the Advocate-General had depicted, the Goolds had led a quiet, respectable life, and had never before been called to. account by any Court of law. He dwelt upon Goold's passion for his wife and affection for his niece, and argued that if he had really premeditated this crime he could easily have killed Mme. Levin with a single blow. It was not even proved that it was he who struck the blow which proved fatal. He asked the Court to Bonham and Major Corkran. At page 6 of find extenuating circumstances, and to pass a sentence of imprisonment without penal Counsel for Mrs. Goold contended that there was no proof of premeditation, and asked that his client should be sentenced to a term of imprisonment.

Sentence was delivered this evening. Mrs. Goold was condemned to death, and her husband to penal servitude for life.

P. AND O. STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY:

The ordinary general meeting of the propristhe company, Leadenhall-street, E.C., Sir ?

Butherland presiding. The Chairman, in moving the adoption of the report, said the year which had passed over their heads had been one of somewhat varying experiences, but closed on the whole more successfully that at one time some of them ventured to hope. They were enabled to pry dividend and bonus averaging a return of 9 per cent. on the total amount of the paid-up stock after setting acide the handsome appropriation of £460,000 for depreciation—that was to say, £80,000 more than the normal 5 per cent. on the original cost of the fleet. The soundness of that policy in writing down the values of the fleet was, he thought, reflected in the market value of their stock, the comparative steadiness of which was remarkable amid the bouleversement of what were called gilt-edged securities. The most prominent feature in the revenue accoun was, of course, that of freight receipts, amounting to £1,155,615, about £34,009 above the sum raised last year. They had had some special drawbacks to contend with which seriously affected their resources and their revenue. Undoubtedly the most serious of these drawbacks was the great fight which they had at Antwerp with their German friends. The treaty of peace had not been operative so far as rates were concerned, as they had in their eagernes to fight the battle, entered into engagements for months forward at fighting rates. Autwerp as a port was more necessary to them now than ever before, because it was impossible for them to fill their ships either to or from the Port of London alone. The trade with the Continent in convexion with the Far East was increasing. and, after all, Europe was a good deal larger than this little island.

THE PORT OF LONDON. Perhaps the situation would be somewhat improved if London should happily become more economical port. The long-promised legislation for settling the future port authority was, he believed, at last near achievement. I ventured to hope that, when the port authority was constituted, the improvement and extension of facilities on the Thames would take rathe the direction of being increased at the mouth of the river than up river in the vicinity of the Victoria Docks. He confessed to having changed his mind absolutely on that subject on account of the increasing, six of vessels and the necessity of facility of access for those great vessels; als his view had been affected by the consideration that traction on land had undergone a revolution and they were now enabled, provided they had proper roads and bridges, to bring the district of Tilbury as conveniently near to the centre. of London as the Albert Dock was at the CHANGES IN FAR EASTERN TRADE.

Speaking of the Far Easten trade, stated that the whole of their colonial trade between Bombay and Japan had been wiped out by the energy of their Japanese competitors. They had, he imagined, been forced by their Government to increase their departures from Bombay. That trade, consisting chiefly of rav cotton, and amounting to about 70 ,000 bales, was worked as a monopoly between an association of spinners and the shipowners. Some time ago they had thought it impossible that an enlightened people like the Japanese could shut their eyes to the advantages of free traie and competition. In order to demonstrate their case the board caused to be purchased one or two cargoes of outton and sent it to Japan, when they found to their surprise and horror that they could not sell a single bale and had to bring it back. This policy on the part of the Japanese seemed hardly fair to the P, and O, and to others, recing that during the war they carried on the whole of that business for the benefit of the Japanese manufacturing interest. The denoumment was startling in the extreme. It seemed as if the soul of the people had suddenly awakened to a degree of almost supernatural activity. There was approaching £3,000 better.

THE NEW MAIL CONTRACT. On this the first opportunity he congratuated settled and defined in great measure the course of the company's business for the next seven years. Their proposals were accepted after a the authorities in that part of the world, but they were accepted eventually without auy negotiation whatever (hear, hear), and, seeing their mail contracts with the Government or not settling them at all, they might consider themselves fortunate. Although in undertaking this more arduous service, having regard to the present price of fuel, they fet a little anxiety for next year, they were perfectly confident that in the long run the contract would answer the company's purposes, as these contracts had done heretofore. Last year they were threatened with a new Australian service in powerful hands, but that scheme perished still-born, which was cortainly the best result for all concerned, and most assuredly for the investors who intended to place their money in it. The Australian muil contract, which ran alternately with their own, had been given to their good friends the Orient Company, and they were glad that should be the case. But now they were threatened with another nail in their coffic. THE "ALL-BED" BOUTZ. They were threatened with an "all-red" route, the scheme of which they heard a great The Head and Branch Offices and the deal about at the time of the great Colonial Conference. Under it, express ships like the Lusitania and the Mauretania, he supposed, were to run via Canada to New Za and and Australia. It had been the ambition of Canada for many years to have surexpress service of this character. He had himself been applied to once or twice in connexion with the project, but up to the present time nobody had been willing apparently to meet the necessary expenditure. To accomplish an express service to New Zealand and Australia would indeed demand gigantic resources, and it would be a matter of great interest to find out where thosa resources were to be found. And there was another question. The distance between Vanconver and Wellington, New - Zo dand, was in round figures 6 300 nautical miles and how express steamers were to be built in order to carry coal for that distance was an engineering problem which he believed was at the present moment insoluble. He had not been much sur-prised, therefore, to see by correspondence in the Press that there was a gradual toning down of the idea of this express speed for Lia Pacific part of the service, and it had been suggested that the ships engaged in this service should coal at Honolulu. But, good heavens, if the ships were to coal at Honolulu, what became of the "all-red." route? For Honolulu was an American port, and the "all-red" route would appear to be a phrase merely to throw dust in the eyes of an innocent public. Speaking of the passenger trade, he was sorry to observe that the Common-wealth had adopted the policy of excluding companies like theirs from participating in the counting traffic of Australia. If the threatened measure passed, as it seemed likely to do shortly, this company would be deprived of an income on their Australian lines of between £25,000 and £30,000 a year, which—was, to say the least, somewhat disagreeable. Unfortunately this policy of the Commonwealth synchronized with the new tariff, which certainly imposed upon them immediately a very high charge leviable on all the stores on board their vessels, and might have the even more serious effect of interfering with general exports from this country. In conclusion he expressed the opinion that the company had never been in a stronger

Mr. S. S. Gladstone seconded the motion for the adoption of the report, which was agreed to

THE ANTI-OPIUM MOVEMENT IN

The Times' correspondent at Peking wired on Doc mber 6th :--

The Chinese Government has addressed. note to the British Minister expressing grateful recognition of the British Government's sympsthetic co-operation in China's endeavours to abolish the opium trade; accepting the conditions stated for the reduction of the import of the Indian drug pari passu with the decrease of the production of native opium; and at the same time foregoing the proposal to increase the import duty on foreign opium. The doonment affords welcome evidence of the good faith of the Chinese Government and its genuine desire to effect this reform.

Recent information from Consuls and missionaries is generally of a conflicting nature. showing that the effect of the Imperial edicts chiefly depends on local public opinion and on the personality of the responsible officials. But it may be safely stated that the anti-opium movement commands the support of a large section of the people and has already produced hopeful results. Wherever public sentiment and vested interests combine to oppose the regulations the Government has no effective means of enforcing them, and, therefore, the most satisfactory feature of the movement consists in the fact that the people, as distinct from the Government desire the suppression of the traffle. China, in July, accepted in principle the American Government's proposals for an international conference to investigate the question of opium abolition, but, presumably owing to lack of initiative, no stop has been taken to appoint or convene delegates.

PROGRESS OF BRITISH NORTH BORNEO.

The people directly interested in British North Borneo held their thirteenth annual dinner at the Hotel Cooil on December 11th. Sir Charles Jessel occupied the chair, and the company of 280 included Count Mutsu, Baron Emile d'Erlanger, Major-General Sir A. E Turner, Sir W. Bailtie-Hamilton, Sir W. H. Treacher, Sir R. B. Martin, Sir Charles P. Lucas, Sir Ralph Moor, Sir Charles Forrest of Comiston, Sir H. F. Hibbert, Colonel Sir another curious feature in connexion with their | Augustus -Fifz-George, Vice-Admiral Sir J. trade between Bombay and China. The trade Durnford, Vice-Admiral Sir Bonyerie Clark, had been somewhat dull in China during last Major-General Sir Ronald Lune, Sir Montagu year, and, as far as he knew, for the first time Ommanney, the High Commissioner for New in history 50,000 bales of Bombay cotton yarn Zealand, the Agents-General for Victoria, had this year found their way into Europe. Was West Australia, South Australia, British Cothis a passing incident, or was it a prophetic lumbi. New Brunswick, and Nova Scotia; note of the influence of cheap labour in the the Hon. C. H. Strutt, Mr. Colin Ross, Mr. Far East of which we might hear a great deal A. Dick-Cunyngham, Mr. J. A. Maitland, Mr. later? But while they had had drawbacks they E. Hudson, Mr. C. V. Crengb, Mr. E. Dent, had also had some countervailing advantages, Professor Wyndham Dunstan, Mr. Singuer although he could not say that the prospects de Stein, Mr W. C. Cowie, Mr Towkay Loke, of shipping in the way of trade at present were Rev. W. H. Elton, Mr F. C. Stoop, Mr H. G. of a brilliant character. To sum up the total Forbes, Mr G. C. Irving, Mr Newton, Mr H. results of income and expenditure, there was a Wagetaff, Mr J. W. Wilson, and the hon. difference in favour of this year of between secretary (Mr. W. P. Flynn). After an inter-£7,000 and £8,000. The accounts showed as esting bioscopic exhibition of scenes in North good a result as last year, and something Borneo Mr. C. Cowie said that thirty-five years age when he heisted the Fritish Flag over the first trading a ation in North Born so he had no idea that the region would become a thriving the proprietors on the new mail contract, which British Colony. The revenue which is 1900 was £63,000, had grown to £140,000 last year. The British public did not seem to realise the value of British North Borneo, which comprised. long interval, because they were sent abroad to | 30,000 equare miles of territory, a railway 120 India and the Far East for the consideration of miles long, and telegraphs extending over 800 miles. Within the territory were seven companies engaged in the cultivation of rubber. The prospects of tobacco planting were equally the trouble that some companies had in settling encouraging. There were vast deposits of of minerals and coal was being exported. The British in North Borneo had stopped piracy, abolished head hunting and slavery, opened a new field for the profitable employment of British capital, and made a most important addition to the Empire. (Cheers).
